

The Greene Light

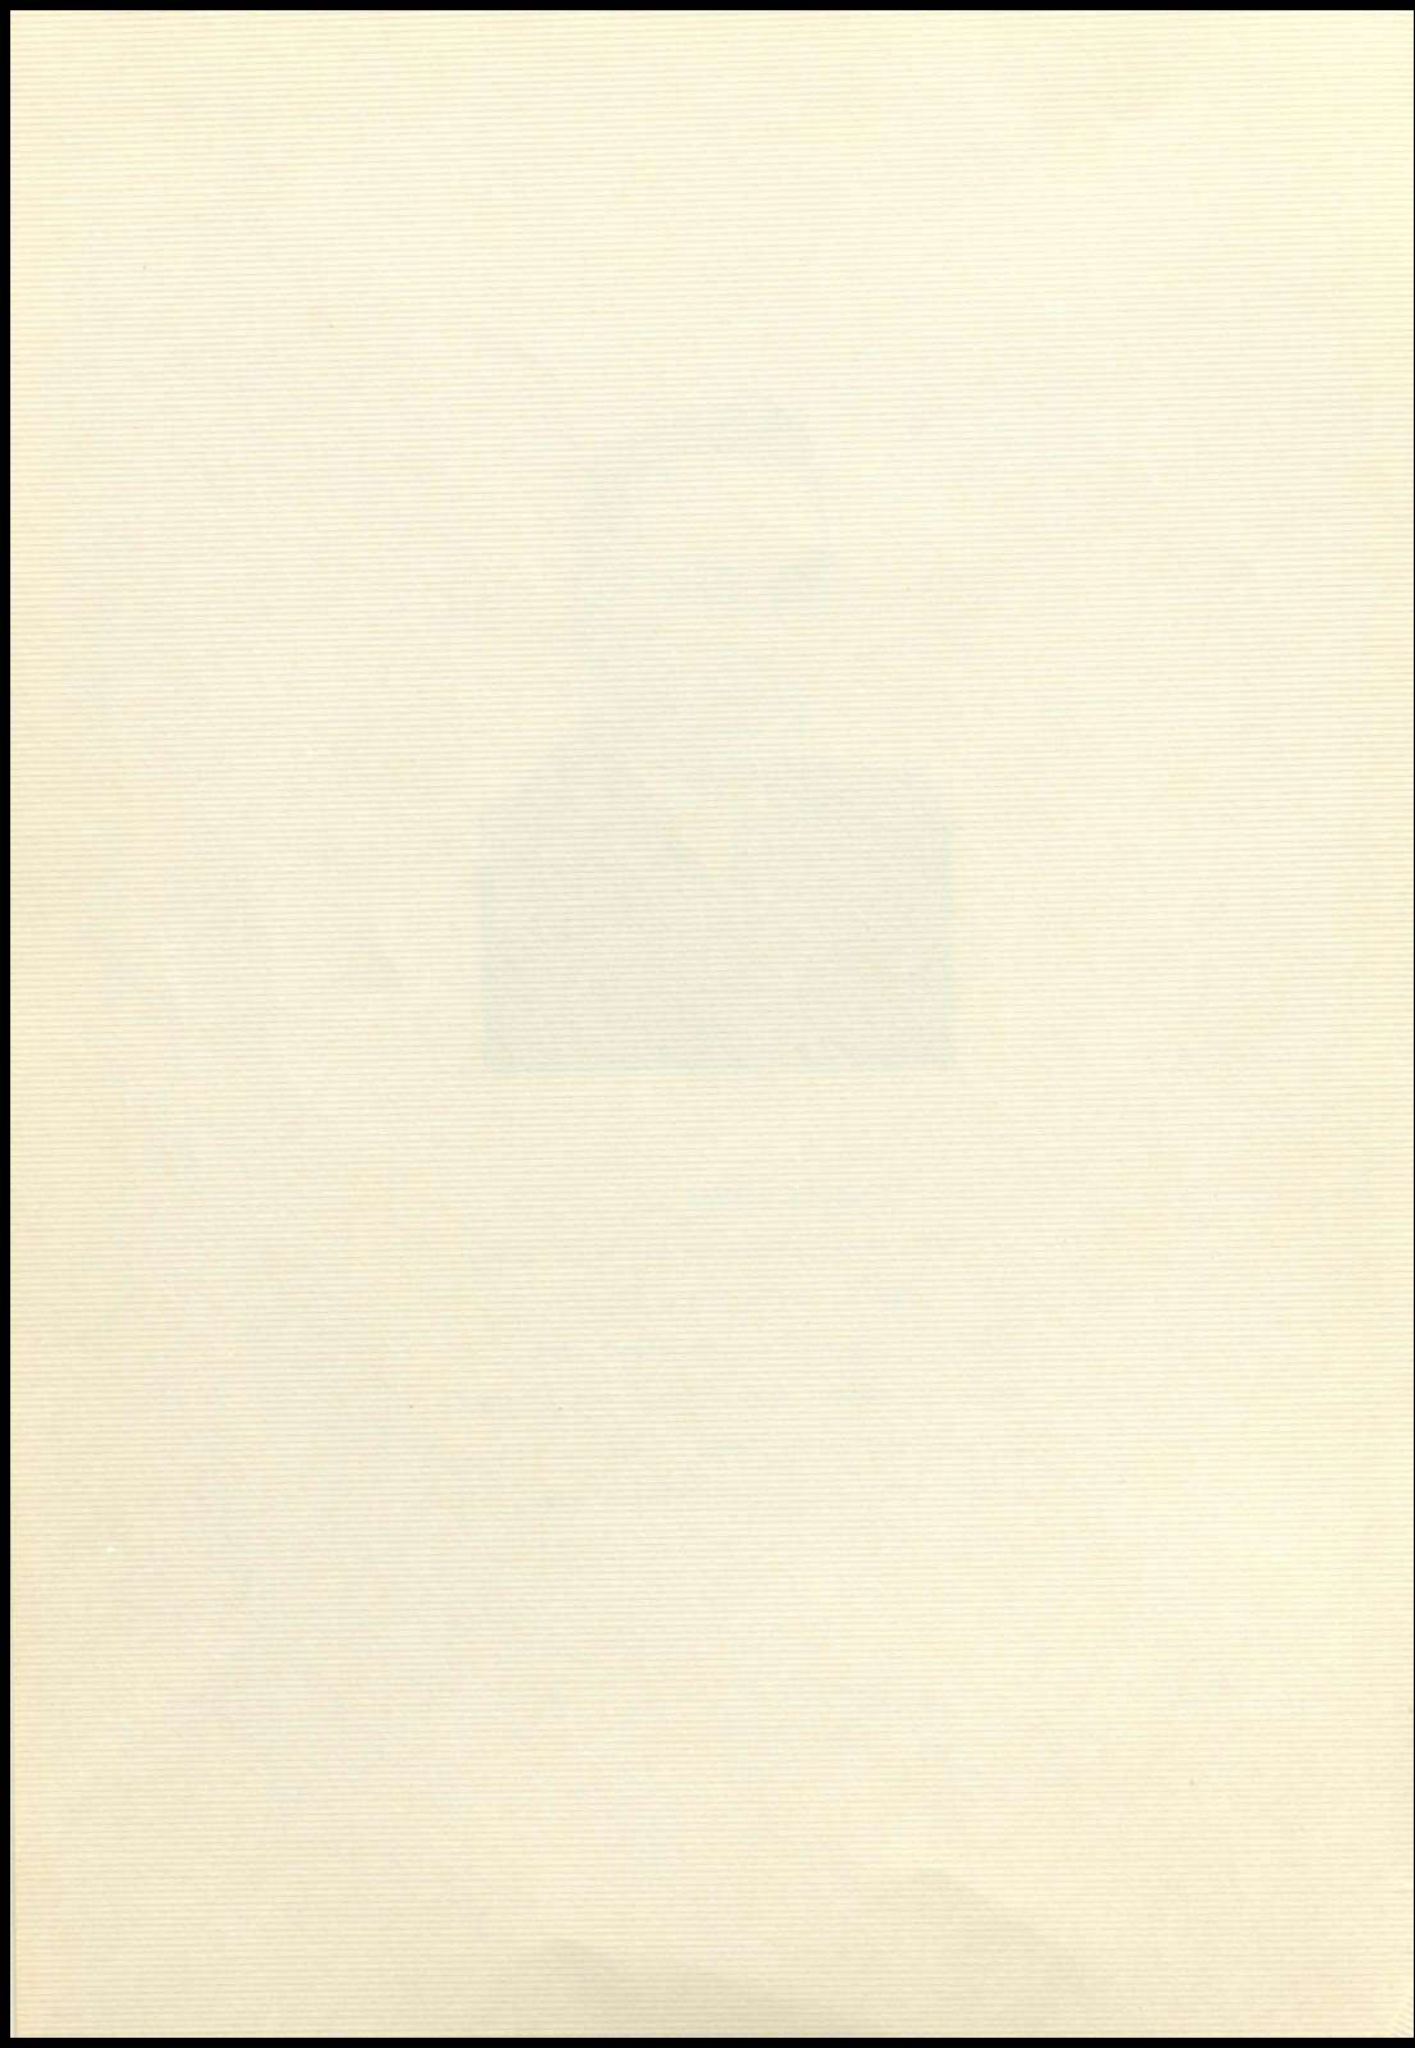

IN APPRECIATION

We, the graduating class of 1950, would like to express our sincere appreciation to our principal, Mr.
Edgar H. Beebe, who through his thoughtfulness and individual attention has aided us to reach our present goal.

DEDICATION

We, the Class of '50, wish to dedicate "The Greene Light" to our esteemed instructor "Andy" Pearl. We deeply appreciate his keen interest in enlightening our minds through our last four years of Senior High School and the preparation we have received that will enable us to meet successfully the difficulties of science in more advanced schools.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Second row- Kennie Ceplo, David Smith, Roger Pierce, Bud Jones, Frank Weir, Danny Walters, Raymond Dixon, Tim Lawton, Miss Mills.

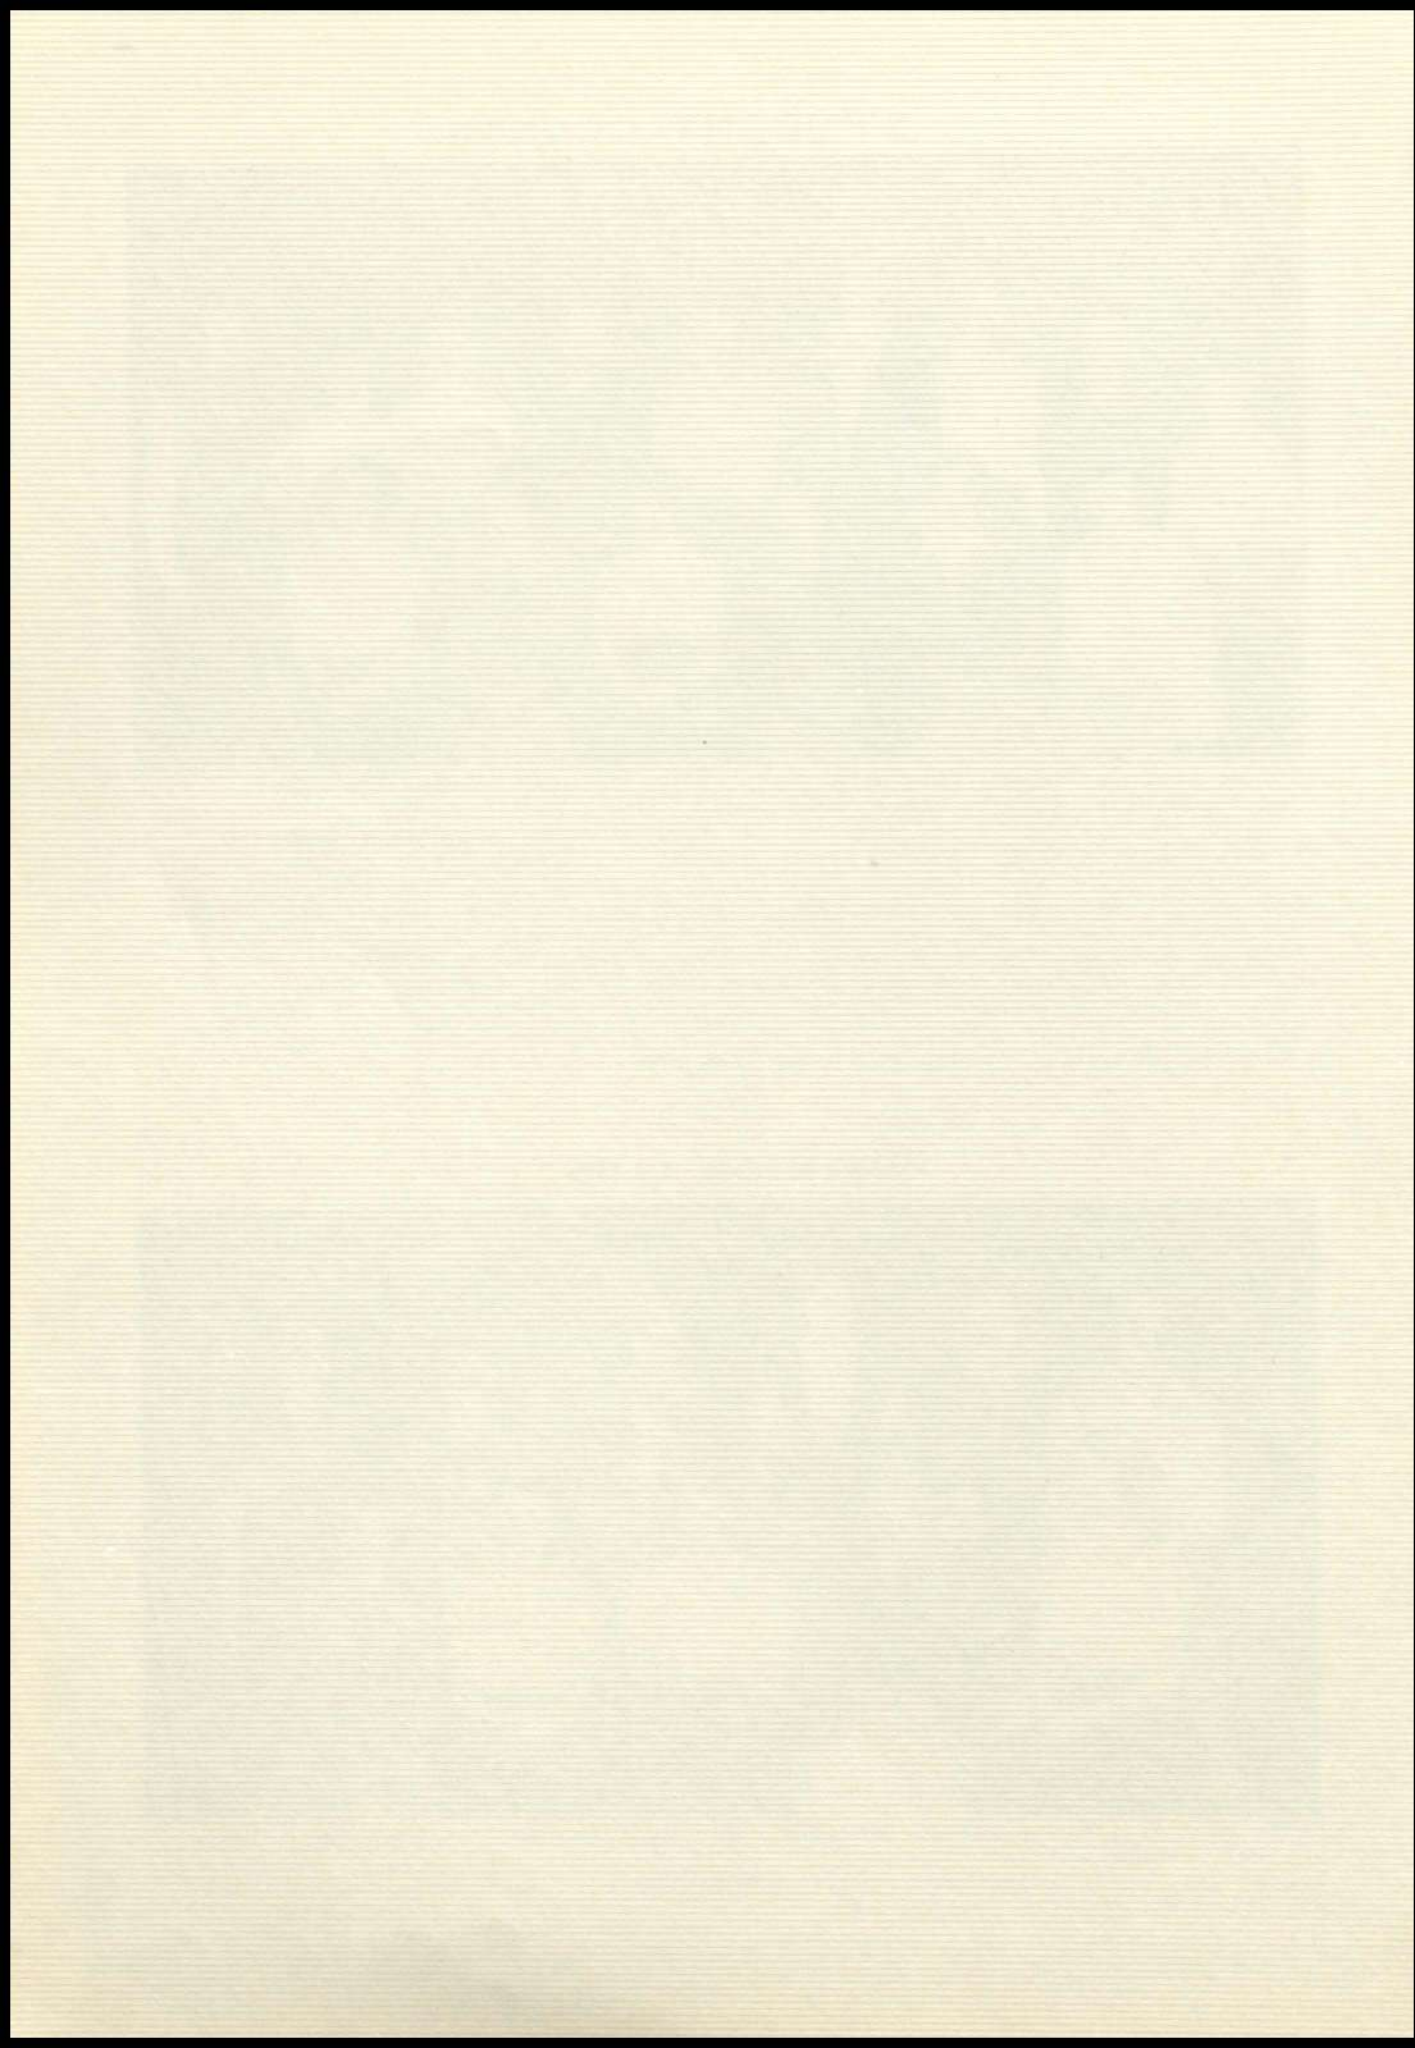

Officers of Student Council are: Pres.-Danny Walters, Vice Pres.-Judy McLaughlin, Sec.-Jane Champion, Treas.-Doris Loomis. The Student Council has not been too active this year although they've had big ideas. During the year they put on one assembly on education which was a discussion between the businessmen of Greene and some of the Student Council members. They also sold scotch-tape with Greene Central written on it. Members of Student Council attended two county meetings: one at South New Berlin and the other at South Otselic. They hope to get more done next year.

FOOTBALL

 Third row- Coach Blakeslee, Bob Armstrong, Ronnie Armstrong, Don Pratt, Roger Weaver, Herb Deabler, Don Woodruff, Leo Cook, Ralph Stone.

The Trojans football team was a hard luck team and although they won only two out of the seven games played, they never stopped fighting even though the odds were against them. Greene defeated Oxford again for the second season in a row. Jack Ceplo scored all four of Greene's touchdowns in Greene's 24-8 victory.

Scores:

Greene 14	Walton	0
Greene 7	Windsor	33
Greene 0	Sherburne	15
Greene 0	Cooperstown	13
Greene 19	Deposit	24
Greene 7	Sidney	21

CLASS PROPHECY

Well here we are sitting directly across from Mysto the Great, who will look into his crystal ball and attempt to tell us what has happened to all our old classmates from the class of '50, whom we haven't seen for 15 years.

As the ball begins to clear we see something interesting come into view. We can't quite make out what it is though. Ah, now we see. It's Jack Ceplo pitching a fast ball to a Yankee player. He is on the Dodger team and has proved himself an asset. In the years that he has been playing since '50 he's won four World Series for the team.

The ball is beginning to cloud up now and we leave Jack. Here comes an image. It's a large building and it looks like---yes it is---a hospital. Just inside the front door we see Lois Holcomb sitting at the head nurses desk. Down the hall comes a laughing group consisting of Alice Stanton, Catherine Delaney and Phillis Perry. They all went to Union College and now they're practicing nursing together at a very modern hospital. Who's that chasing them down the hall? Why, it's Julia Slate and Nanda Koertd who went to Binghamton City Hospital to study nursing. Just think of all those lucky patients.

The scene shifts now and we see a door marked "Marriage Bureau." Let's go inside. There seated at desks are Jane Curley, Connie Woolley and Pudge Gillette. Their motto is "We got our man, now let us help you get yours."

The ball clouds up now again. When we next look, we see a school gym and Dick Wells is coaching a group of boys in baseball uniforms. Here comes Buddy Jones who is the coach of the football team. Both boys went to Cortland State Teachers College and both are married.

We have heard, by the crystal ball, that Ethel Brachin is teaching English in this same school. Let's go up and see. Yes, there she is and she's reading Macbeth with her class. Ethel went to New York University and majored in English.

What are those sounds coming from the ball? They sound like a symphony orchestra practicing. Yes it is a symphony orchestra and look who's playing the cello. Marilyn Alderman. She went to Eastman School of Music and graduated with high honors. There's Phyllis Gott at her old job of playing the flute. We always knew that those two girls would get some place.

The magic ball now shows a platform with someone in a bathing suit walking up and down. It's Murlle Houseman who won the title of Miss America in 1955. She really looks good in a bathing suit. After she moved to Florida she started winning beauty contests and now she's got cups and trophies by the dozen. There is Andy Morton in the audience. He told us that he was going to work with models some day, but we never believed him. Today he has his own model agency. It's called "Morton's Models."

What's this we see next? It looks like a lot of trees and we could almost swear that we were in a forest. We must be, because there's a Forester's Station and, why yes, there's Jimmy Delaney on top. He went to the College of Forestry at Syracuse University and now he's stationed here in the Adirondacks.

The ball is clouding up now and for a moment we are unable to see anything. As it clears we see Roberta Scheuerman. She went to Elmira to become a Lab Technician and now she's in Binghamton City Hospital working in the lab. Roberta always did excell in science.

The crystal ball shows an art school with Jeanette Hanna and Jean McCombs conducting classes. In high school they were able to draw anything you wanted. In this art school they teach only advanced students.

My goodness, look at that large farm house. It belongs to Hilton Small. He raises everything from corn to watermelons and sells them to a firm in New York. Up the road are rival farmers Bob Weir and Glenn McLain. They also have large farms and sell to a firm in New York.

The country is fading and a business office is emerging. There is Joanne Bradford sitting in an office all her own and typing madly. When she graduated, she went to Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School. Now she had a job as private secretary to the boss of the Atomic Energy Commission. Here are names spinning rapidly. Francis Harris, Beverly Williamson, Anita Leach, Doris Ford and Catherine Ellis all went to Ridley's Secretarial School and now have very good jobs as private secretaries. Winnie Doxie is private secretary to George Raymond at Lyon Raymond Corporation and Joyce Morgan who went to Lowell's Business School is also working at Lyon Raymond.

Number please? Why, that's Eleanor Leach who has been head operator in Norwich for the last seven years. We always said that she had a pleasant voice and now she's proved it.

The scene changes again and now we see a marque with the name Betty Hayes in lights. She's the star of a musical comedy on Broadway and everyone all over the country know her voice when they hear it. Remember how she used to sing duets with Freddy Hoag?

We see by the crystal ball that Dick Huttleston has his own program on the air every evening from 7:30 -8:00. He portrays a cowboy and he always gets his man. Dick has been in numerous cowboy movies and everybody thinks of him in the same category as Roy Rogers and Gene Autry.

The crystal ball now tells us that Nellie Sprague and Irene White went to Delhi and majored in home economics. Just think of how lucky the fellows that get them will be. Doris Loomis also went to Delhi to become a dietician. She's working in Wilson Memorial Hospital. We've heard it rumored that people are getting sick just so that Doris can feed them.

Here's something that we didn't know. Lois Coddington won prizes in public speaking after she graduated and now she's a well known lecturer on world affairs. We've heard her a few times and she seems to know what she's talking about.

Remember Theresa Introvatolo? Remember how she used to play basketball? Well the crystal ball says that she is right forward on a professional girl's team and she is doing fine. We always knew that she would get ahead in that sport. Speaking of professionals--Cynthia Jones who was so good in sports in High School is on a professional ice hockey team. Most of the time she plays center, but sometimes she seems to stray into the wings. This couldn't be a habit, could it?

And look at Harry LeRoy, will you. He's all dressed up to kill. Oh, we see now, He's the principal of a High School in Springfield, Mass. and likes his job. Every time he punishes a student he remembers his own school days and what a perfect angel he was.

The scene again changes and we see that Alice Stringham owns a number of gas stations all over the country. They are called "Stringham's Strong Stations."

Danny Walters, we see, has his own radio program, Waiter's Club 17, every night Monday thru Friday. In this 15 minute program he sings both his own songs and popular ones.

Doris Tyler got a job at E.J.'s after she graduated, and has worked her way almost to the top.

Last but not least we see Ruth Young who works in a beauty salon in Norwich. She gives free tips on how to make your hair look as if it's naturally curly.

Well that's what the class of '50 is doing now after being out in the world for 15 years. Thank you "Mysto" for being such a help. We'll never forget it.

The Last Will and Testament

We, the Class of 1950, being in sound mind and memory, do make, publish, and declare this our last Will and Testament.

Article I

To the faculty we leave our thanks for their help and guidance in our school years.

To the Class of 1951 we leave the responsibilities shouldered by the Seniors, and the privilege of leaving the assembly first.

Article II

Marilyn Alderman, Doris Ford, Phyllis Gott, Julia Slate, and Bob Weir leave their musical ability to the school orchestra.

Ethel Brachin leaves her passion for Geometry to Johnny Balunas.

Joanne Bradford, Jane Curley, and Arlene Gillette leave their cheerleading ability to the future cheerleaders.

Muriel Housman bequeaths her dimpled smile to Sara Hoyt.

To Francis Gardner, Bud Jones leaves his way with the opposite sex.

Johnny Corbin will inherit Danny Walters wavy hair. Hereafter Johnny will not need a bobby pin.

Nandy Koerts bequeaths her blonde hair and blue eyes to Rose Nostro.

Cynthia Jones leaves her love for girls' sports to the future girls gym classes.

D Dick Huttleston leaves the privilege of a daily nap in History to Bill Williams. Does Bill snore?

Beverly Heath will inherit Lois Holcomb's genius marks in History.

To Delores Wrobel, Theresa Introvatolo leaves her lasting vitality.

Catherine Ellis leaves her serious personality to Mary Jones.

Jeanette Hanna leaves her artistic ability to Johnny Auwater.

Lois Coddington bequeaths her soft voice to Isabelle Majarian.

James Delaney and Harry LeRoy leave their ability in Ag. to the future Agriculture students. "I Never Saw a Purple Cow," but maybe they will grow one.

Catherine Delaney leaves her ability to handle money to the next Senior Treasurer. This is a bequest of real value.

To Tony Degregorio, Jackie Ceplo leaves his talent for sports.

Louie Hoffman inherits Roberta Scheuerman's tiny feet.

Bette Hayes leaves her Norwich sweater to Barbara Winston, if it isn't worn out by that time.

The following girls leave their quietness to the Junior Class for future use in assemblies: Doris Tyler, Nellie Sprague, Irene White and Alice Stringham. Is it possible for the Class of '51 to be quiet for more than five minutes?

To Judy McLaughlin and Shirley Scholefield, Joyce Morgan and Eleanor Leach leave their homemaking ability. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach.

Anita Leach leaves her trusty bicycle to anyone who has a long way to walk to school.

Connie Woolley, Winnie Doxie, and Francis Harris bequeath to any future business students their enthusiasm for the course.

Ruth Young and Alice Stanton leave their jobs as librarians to the next Library Club members.

Donald Woodruff inherits the quiet personality of Dick Wells. What a transformation that will be.

Phyllis Perry leaves her musical voice to Ramona Rouse. Here's to the sextet of 1951.

Glenn McLain bequeaths his ability to wink at girls to Merle Rotherforth.

Jean McCombs leaves her stately height to Leslie Moore so that he can see over the steering wheel of a car.

Doris Loomis bestows her popularity with the opposite sex on any Junior who fears she is doomed to be a wall-flower. Doris also will give away her copy of "How to Make Friends and Influence People."

Beverly Williamson leaves her job of taking the cafeteria money to Carol Elliot. Carol, you must make correct change even when Ronnie is whispering in your ear.

Andy Morton bequeaths his tall, dark features to Don Pratt.

Lastly, we hereby appoint Miss Race executrix of this, our Last Will and Testament, hereby revoking all wills made by us. We hereunto subscribe our name this last day of April, in the year nineteen hundred and fifty.

UP THE LADDER TO SUCCESS

As we review the many happy years spent in Greene Central, we consider each year a step in a ladder - a ladder to the success we hope to find when we leave Greene High. Although we did not realize it at the time, each year's progress constituted a step in this ladder. Each year's accomplishments brought us nearer the top. Let us look back and note some of these many accomplishments that have brought us to the final step in our ladder.

Memories of our first six years in Greene Central and thus the first six steps in our ladder are rather vague, although we know we MUST have been here. You ask us how we know? Sam Spade would tell you that the stairs leading down from the cafeteria possess an unusually "smooth" bannister. Could it be that at such an early age the Class of '50 had learned the importance of punctuality?

In September 1944 over eighty seventh graders, with trembling knees and quivering hearts, wandered aimlessly through the halls of Junior High. Soon we were organized under the patient guidance of Mrs. Noone and weathered the trials that confront ALL beginners. It was through her perseverance that we always came out the winners in the stamp and bond drives sponsored by the school. The year passed quickly, and before we realized it, we had completed the seventh step in our ladder.

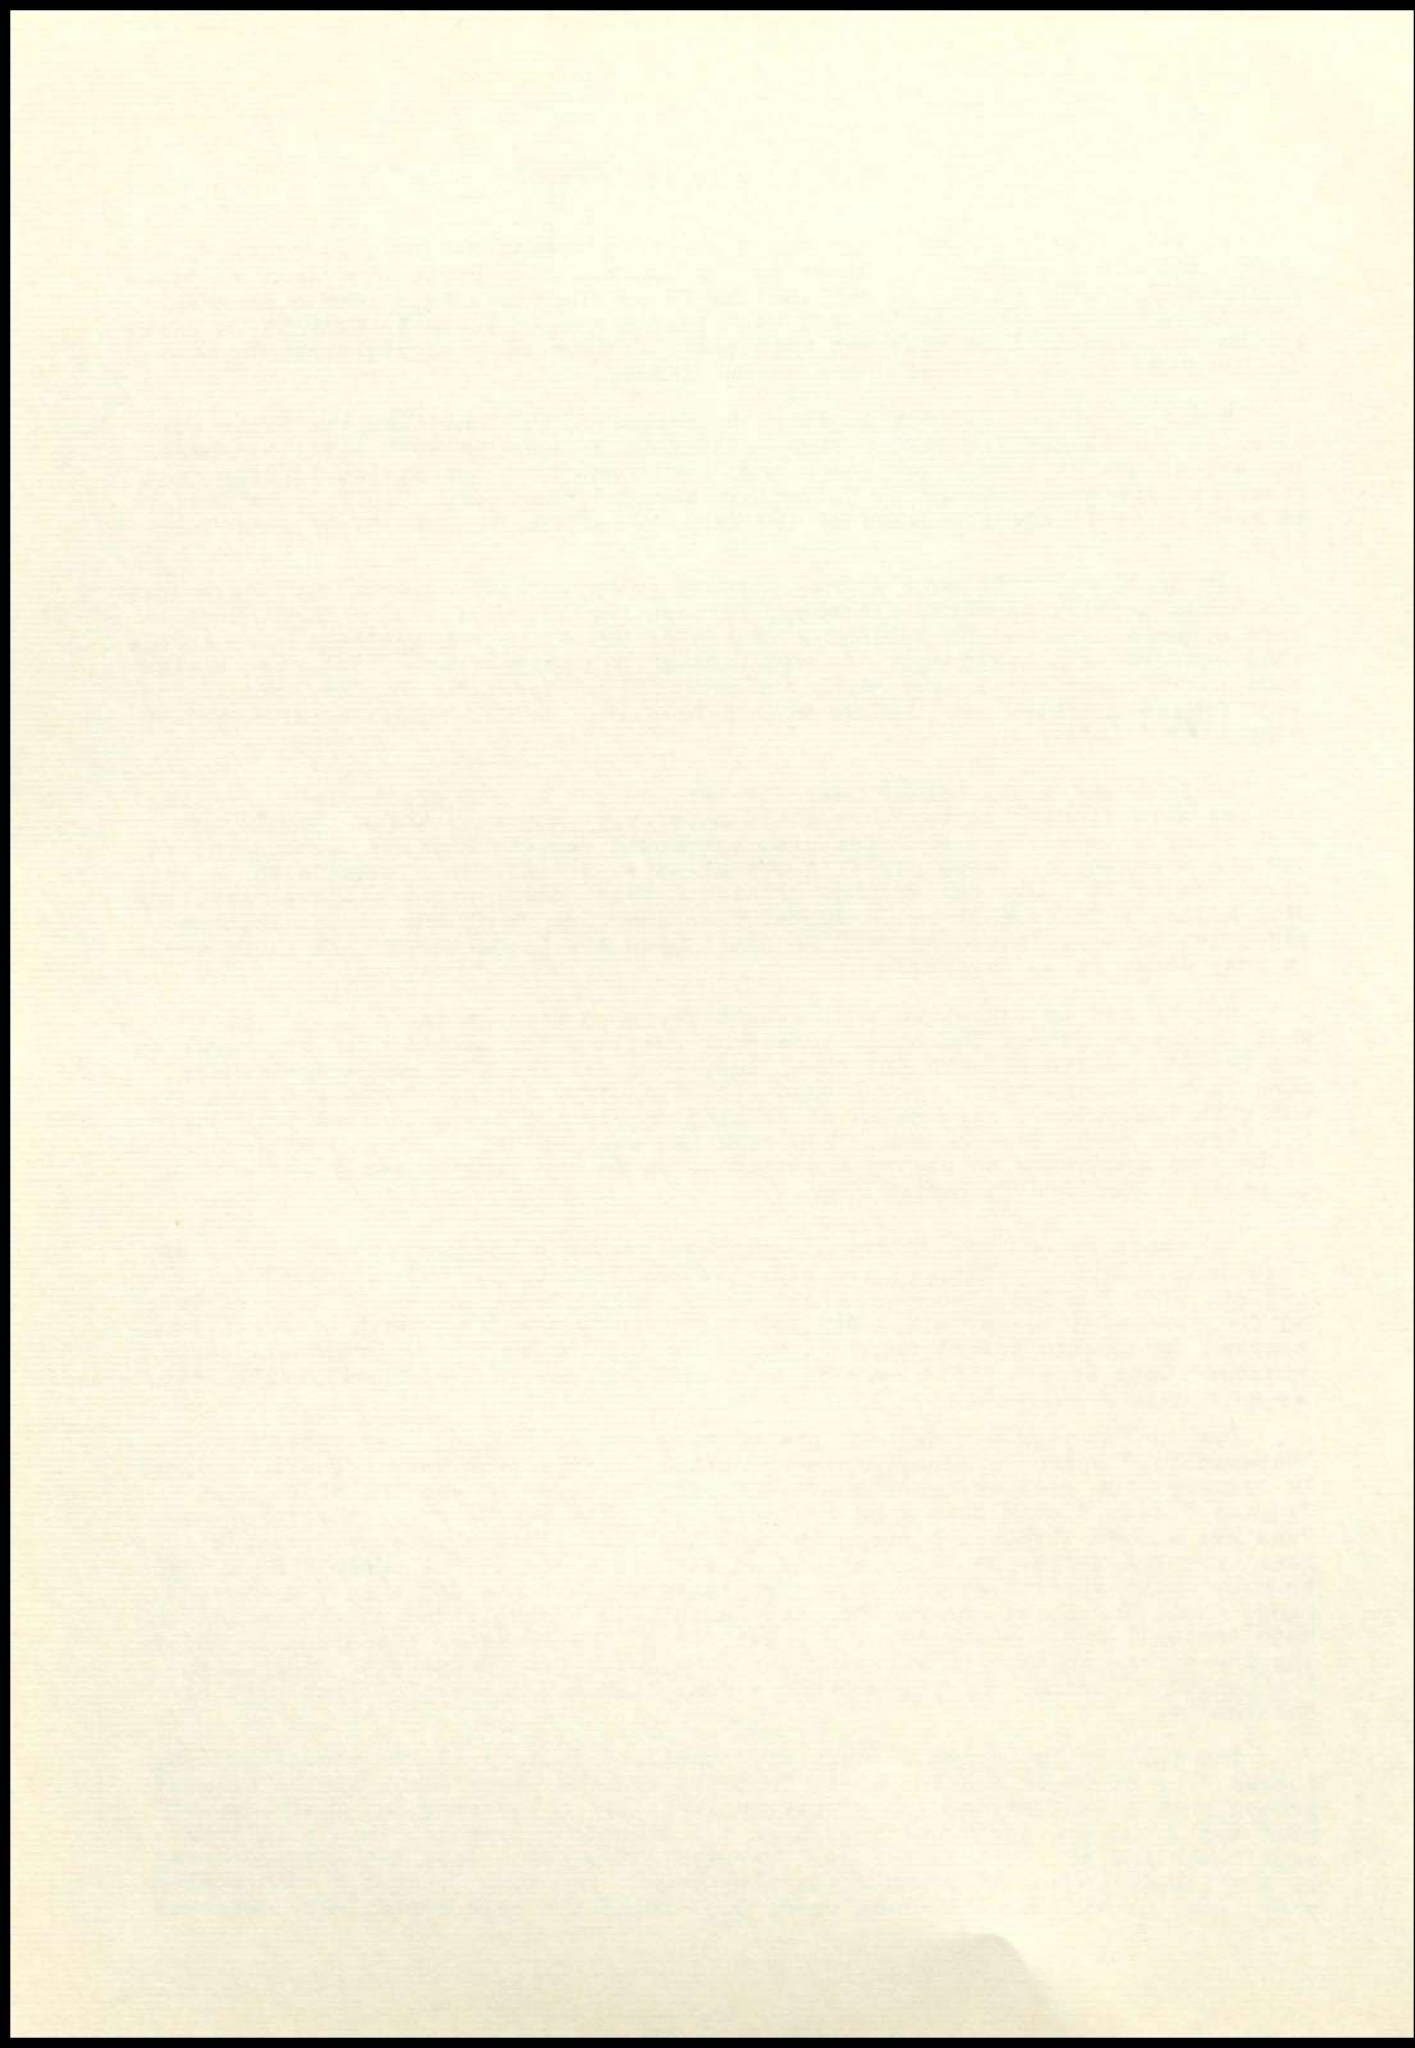

1945-46 was a red-letter year for many in our eighth grade class. Dancing classes were started to teach us a bit more grace and ease while stepping on each other's toes. This year was also earmarked for the Phys. Ed. Demonstration and the choosing of three girls in our class to attend the All State Music Festival. We can't leave our account of eighth grade experiences without recalling Miss Bailey's Science class. Remember when she shut us in the closet when we were, let us say, "mischievous?" We don't need Mr. Spade to analyze those warps in THAT door, do we fellows?

No one had to ask where the verdant Freshmen were in the fall of '46 or what they were doing. The halls were just buzzin'. The addition of Mr. Pearl to the faculty caused a "wow" and then, too, this was the year new cheerleaders were to be chosen. After what seemed like Eternity, Joanne, Pudge and Jane came out with the honors. As a means of raising money, the class decided to sponsor a Christmas Ball. Enough said. Then came the awaited day - the day of graduation. Fifty four graduates completed the ninth step in our ladder, ready and anxious to begin a new life in Senior High.

In the fall of '47, fifty six fifteen year old Sophomores made their way into Senior High, breathless and starry-eyed. "Not Quite Such a Goose" was the try-out play for Footlights in which Nanda, Ethel, Pudge and Danny were accepted for permanent membership. English clubs under the leadership of Mrs. Wilson boosted our morale toward English. Remember the fun we had in Truth or Consequences? Soon we all began to wear that certain look of superiority. After all, we were nearly Juniors.

Our Junior year was full of new thrills and excitement. Jack Doolittle's "Harmonairs," Greene's first dance orchestra, started the year off with a bang! In January, the English department ventured to Ithaca to see the stage play "Julius Caesar." With Joanne as President and Lois and Harry as chairmen, our Prom was a real success. A grass hut and latticed flowers gave the evening a Hawaiian atmosphere. Is there anyone in the Class of '50 who doesn't know how to make crepe-paper flowers? Then there's that memorable day when our class rings came. In sports we won the championship in baseball and placed second in both football and basketball. The remainder of the semester was spent in enjoying the spring months and worrying about regents. Our Junior year ended with the hushed expectancy of being Seniors next year and successfully completing our ladder.

The fall of '49 found a group of confident Seniors still wondering "wha happen." Our trips to see the movie "Hamlet" and the stage play "Blithe Spirit" proved both adventuresome and educational. Later in the year the music department was given the opportunity to hear the Cleveland Symphony - a thrilling experience for all. The Senior Ball carried out a North Pole theme accentuated by a white igloo and blue and white streamers. "No Moon Tonight," the Senior play, gave us many laughs. This year, too, found the band buying new uniforms a goal never before achieved in the history of Greene High. These were proudly displayed at the Sherburne Band Festival. All this sounds as if we have had one big party, but we have had our serious moments also. Visions of History regents looming gloomily ahead put a cold draught on all this gaiety. Everyone was found burning the midnight oil, cramming three years of history into a few short evenings. One of the last major tasks to be done was the editing of the yearbook for which we give credit to Lois Holcomb and the yearbook committee. Many hours of hard work were spent in making this the BEST yearbook Greene High ever had. So, we reverently place the final step in our ladder to success as forty - six graduates leave the hallowed halls of Greene High.

We have built our ladder step by step with painstaking care, that we might leave Greene High prepared to meet squarely all obstacles, and to grasp opportunity by the hand as we continue on the road to success "through rough ways to the stars, through suffering to renown."

CLASS POEM

Our school days now are over
And, as we glance ahead
We gaze upon the journey
Where other feet have sped.

We have found joy in learning
Combined with healthful fun.
And our play and work together
Has helped us the race to run.

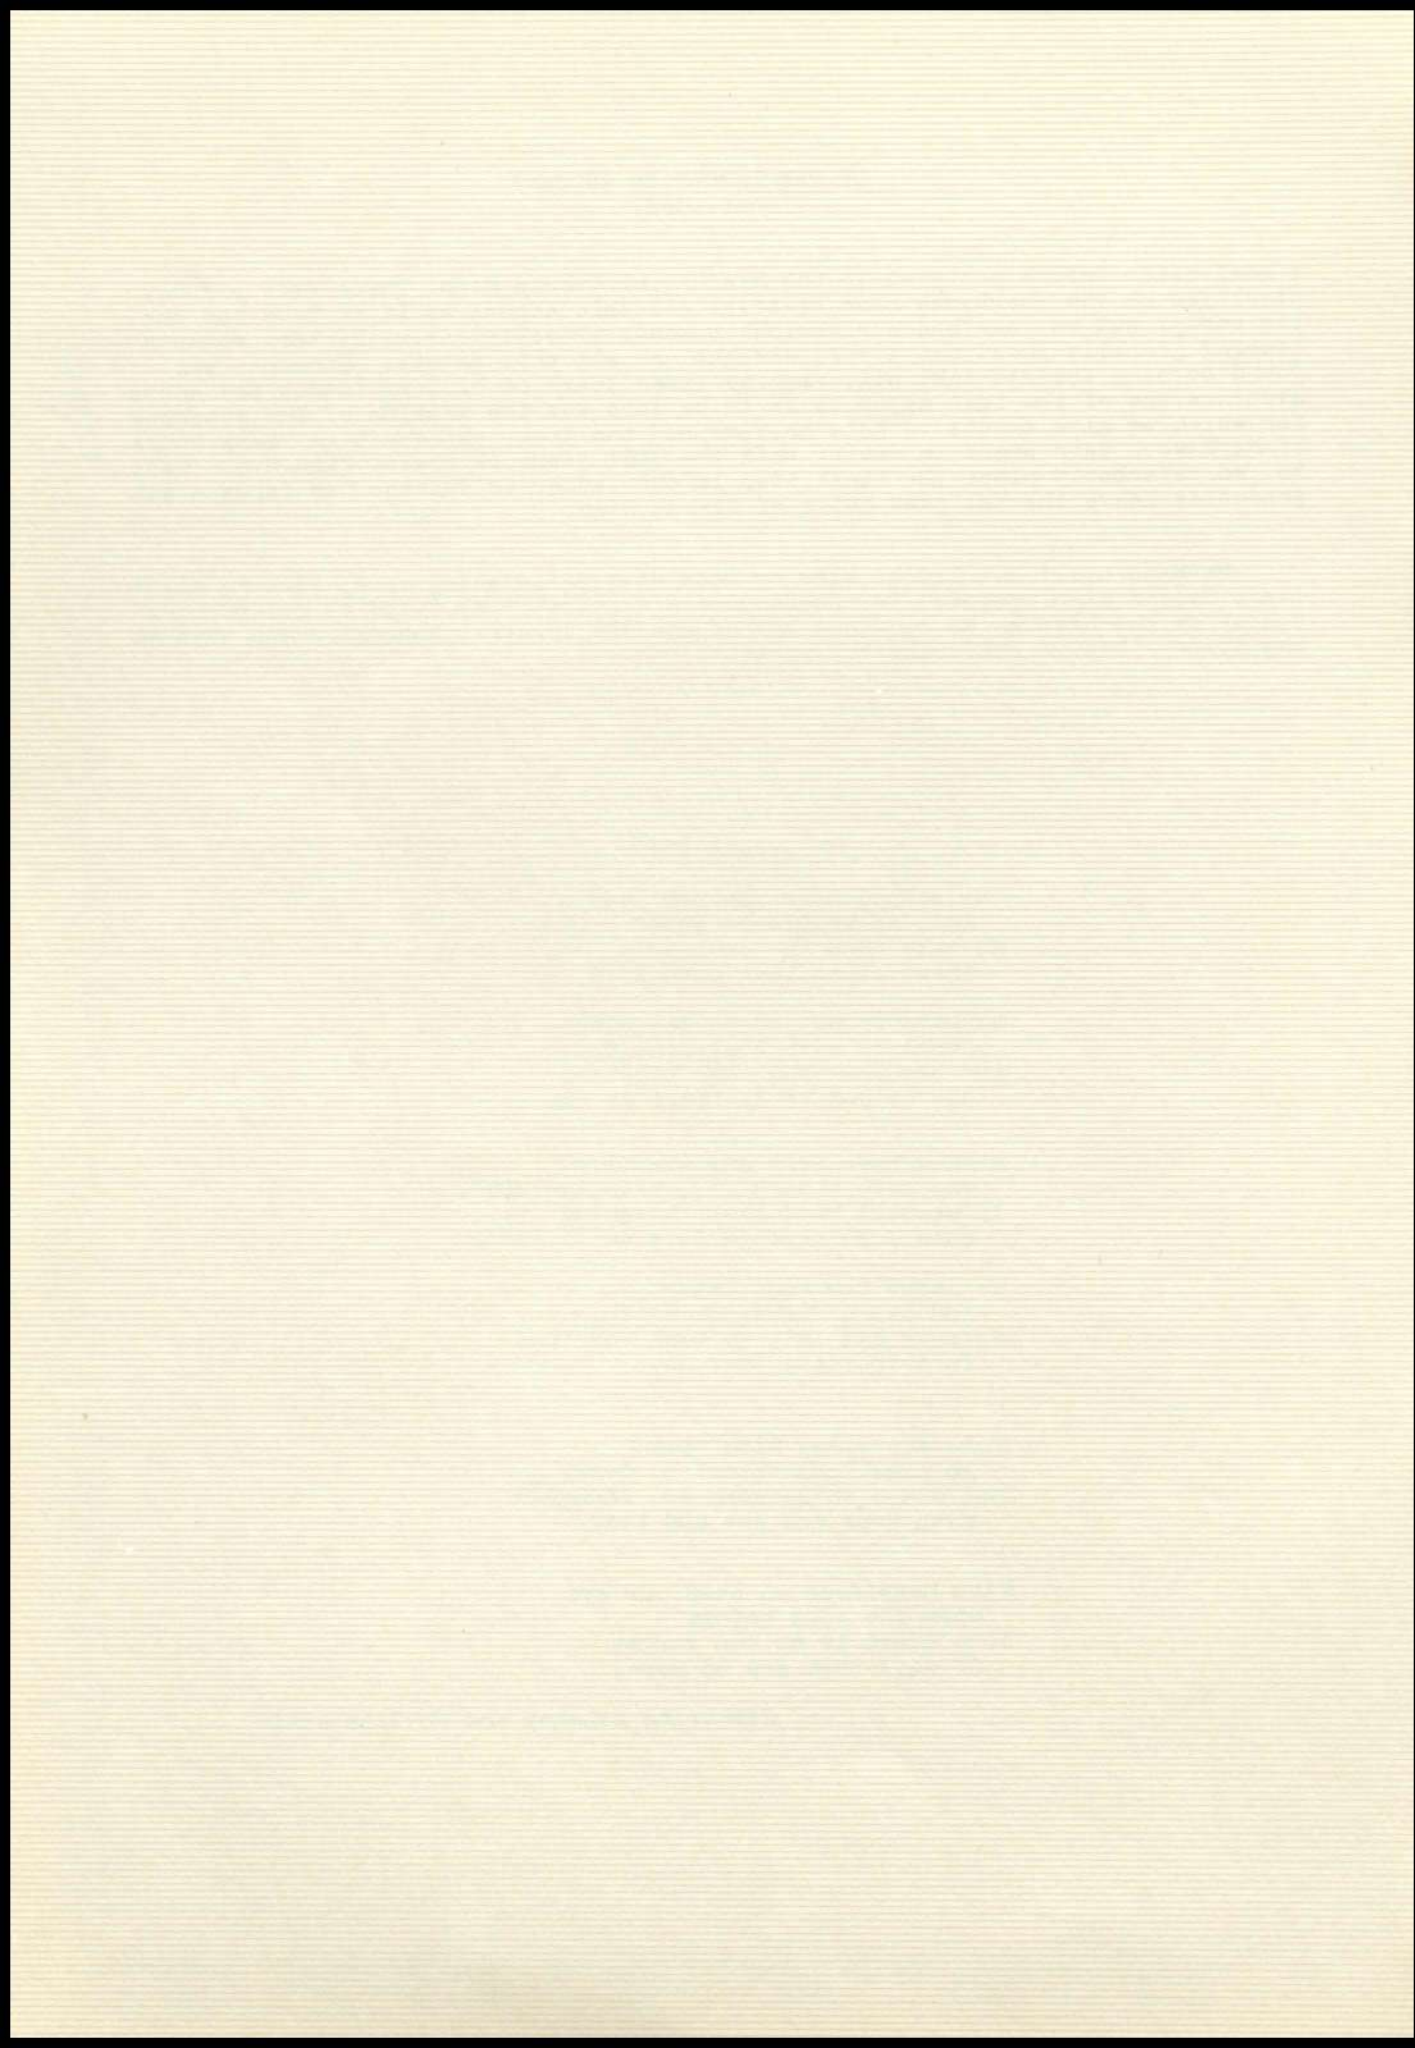

We now have left our teachers
Who were thoughtful, wise and kind.
If we will heed their teaching
More ease through life we'll find.

We leave our Alma Mater
And bid our friends adieu,
Success and luck we wish for them
In everything they do.

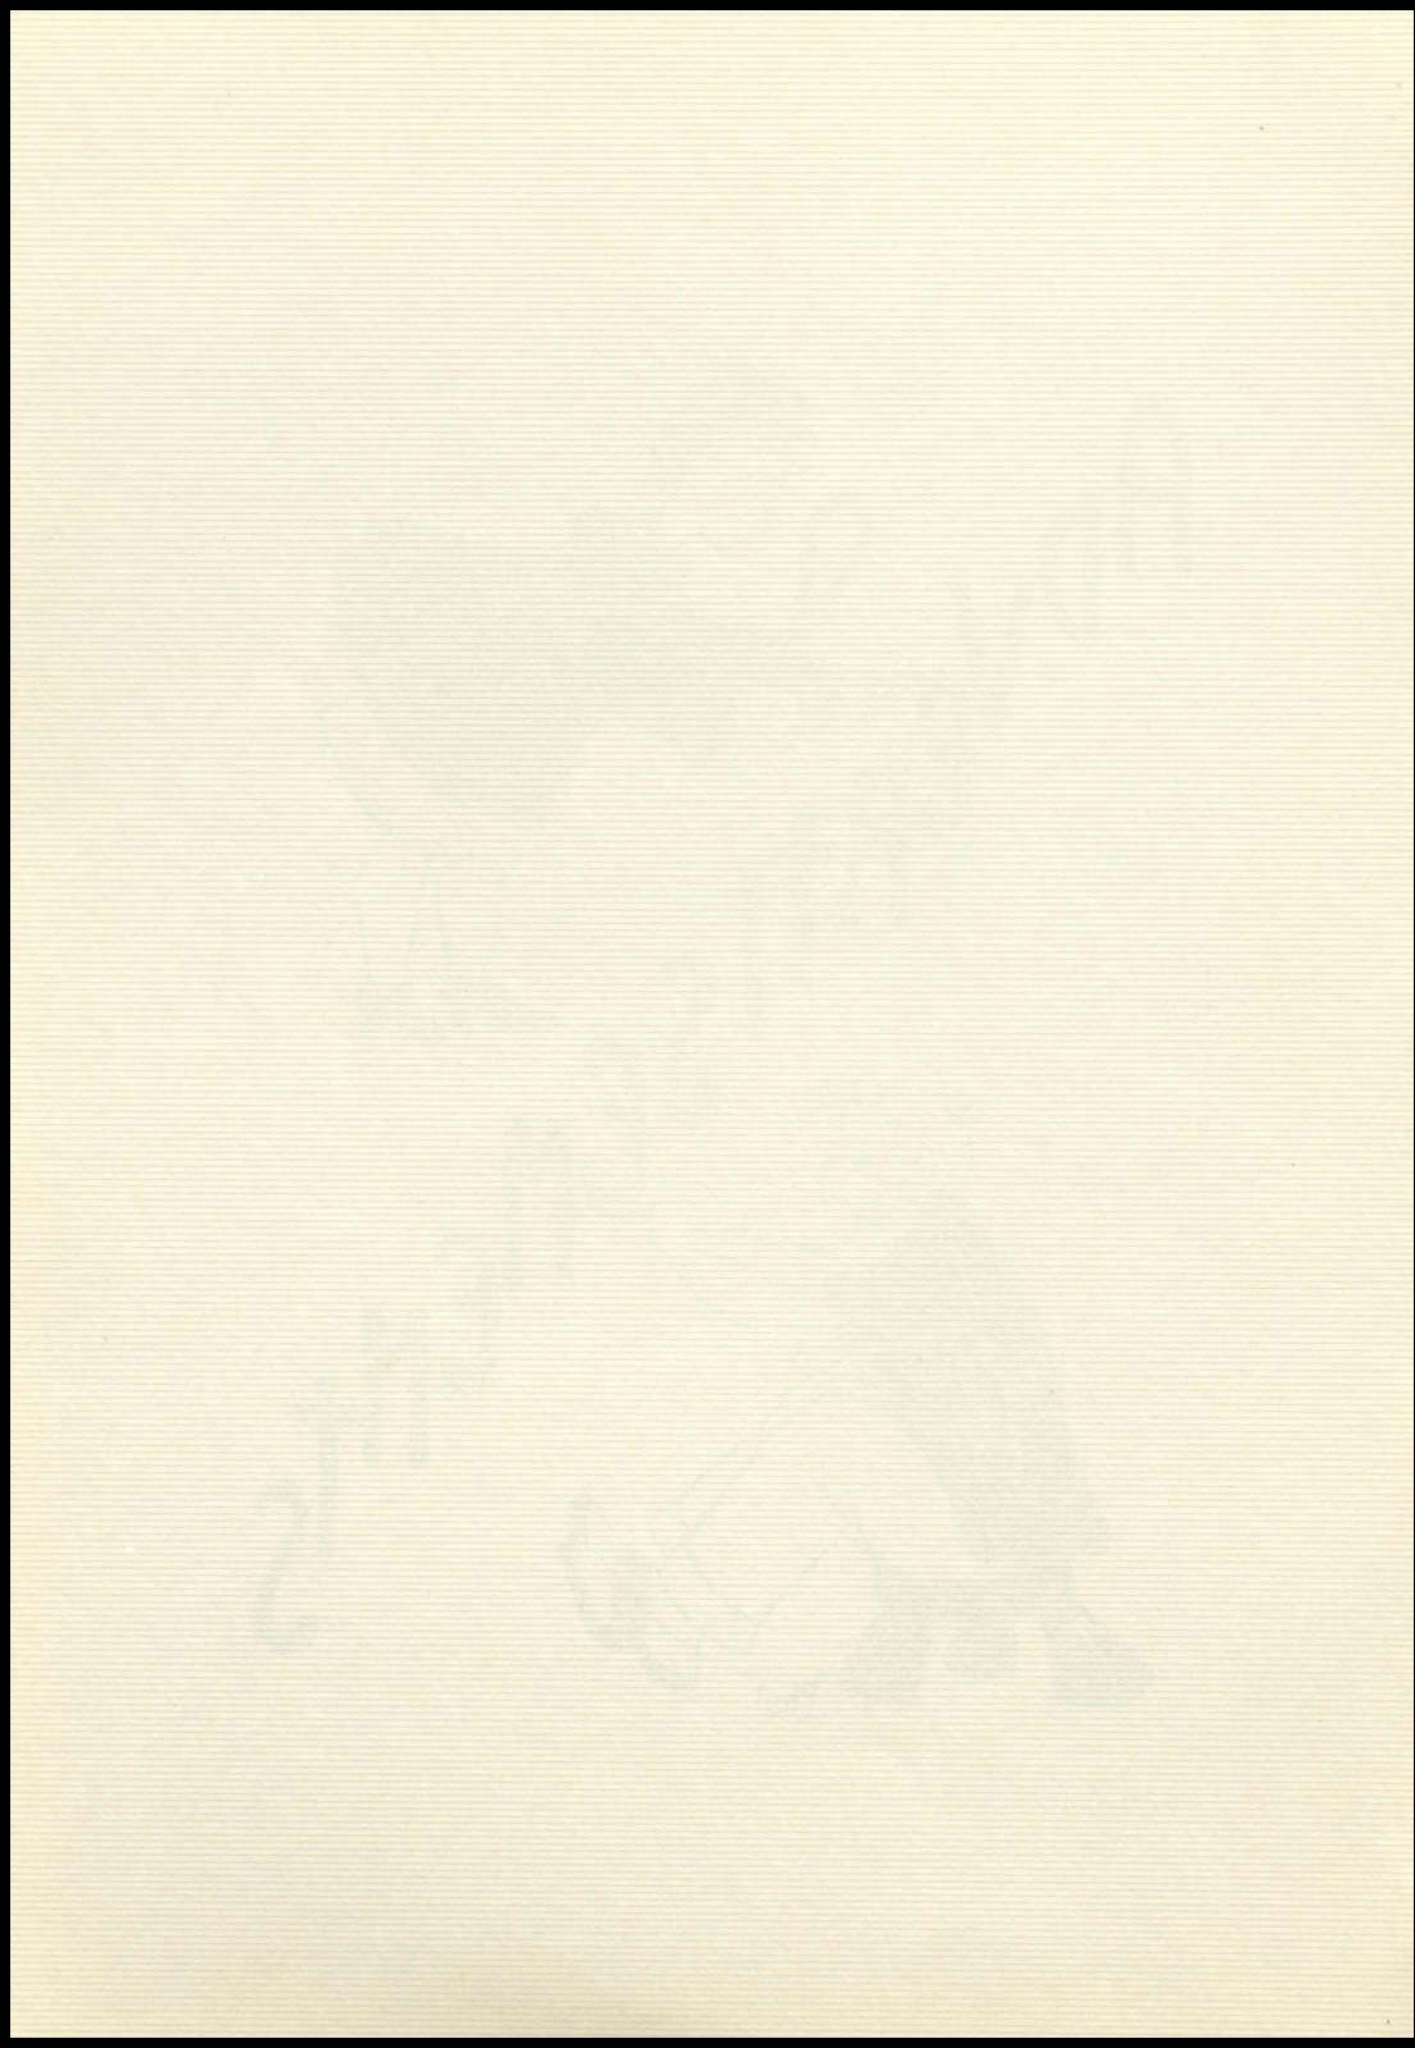

Into the wide, wide world
We pass from school so dear,
Out where we'll work and struggle
With hope and awe and fear.

With heaviness we cast our eye
Upon the road before
None there is we can forget
Of days that are no more.
