200 years — a Bicentennial

12 years — a High School Education

40 weeks — one brief School Year

Time is such a strangely wonderful commodity. Dispensed in front of us in seemingly endless supply, it seems to slip away all too readily.

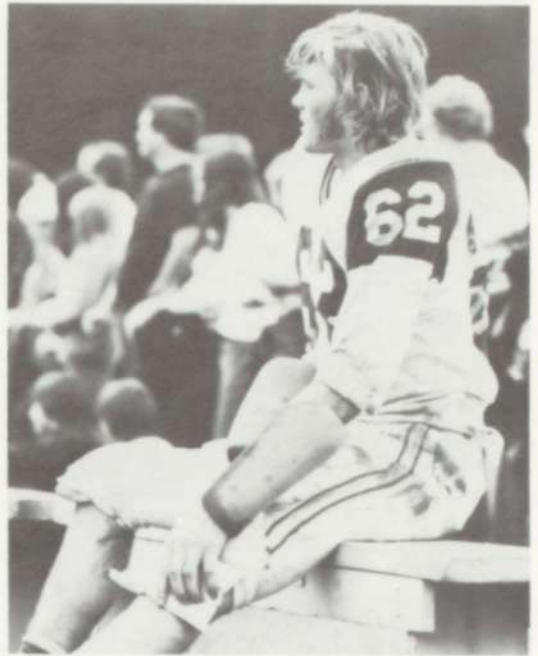

At occasional moments we pause to reflect on the use which we have made of the time behind us and on the hopes which we have for the time before us.

76

Our Nation pauses this year to reflect on our past — to assess the values to be found in 200 years of history and to chart a path into the future.

As Seniors, we pause to reflect on our past 12 years in school — to think of all the things that we have learned and done and of all the people who have taught us and done things for us. We look ahead to new challenges with the hope that we have been somehow prepared by our experiences here, by the many people we have encountered, by the things we did with them, by the things which we will remember about them and because of them.

In the 40 weeks of this brief school year several individuals will particularly pause for a personal reflection on what the past years have produced and will consider what new things lie ahead.

It is to one such individual that we turn with our yearbook. We recognize in this dedication the many years you have spent on us — the numerous things you have done to us and for us. We can realize that it has not always been easy or fun, but we hope that — as you leave Greene Central with us — you will believe that the time was well spent. We trust that your retirement will be as much a challenge to your future as it is a reward for your past 34 years.

With deep admiration and respect we dedicate this Spirit of Seventy-Six

ADMINISTRATION FACULTY STAFF

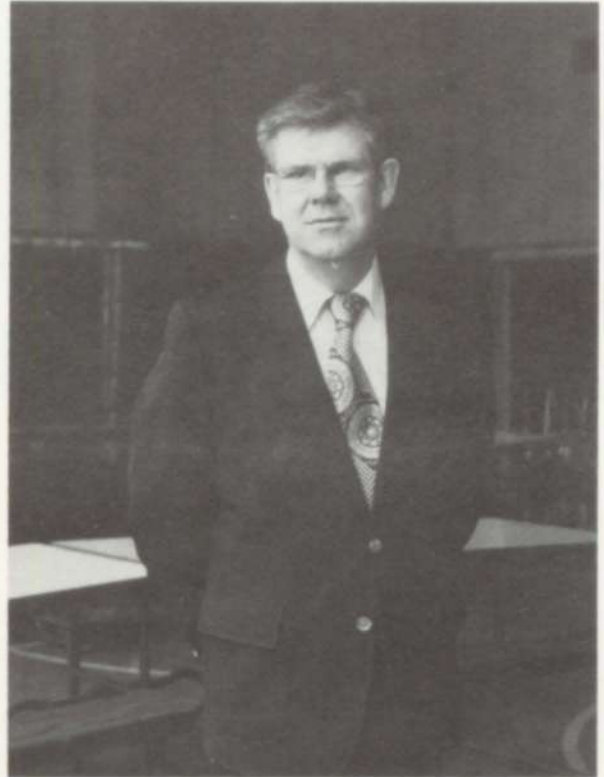

On the weekend of February 5 and 6 the Board of Education sponsored a workshop involving all aspects of the school system to identify and address many of the problems which the district faces now and which will affect the district in years to come. Students, faculty from both elementary and high school, administrators, and Board members spent two days of intensive study and discussion on these areas and formed committees to bring back to the school at large an effort to work positively on our current and long term challenges.

Girls Leaders Club Sports Award Banquet

The annual banquet honoring achievements in Girls Sports has become one of the most cherished memories of each school year. The dinner, the awards, Mrs. Bromley's special prizes, all combine to make a most fitting summary of the achievements which they recognize. 1975 was one of the most memorable with its special program honoring Mrs. Lura Wilson with This Is Your Life, yesterday - today - and tomorrow.

people just like you sat there thinking, "Where do I go from here?"

Where do you go for challenge?
And opportunity?

Go Navy.

If you qualify, you'll get some of the best training available in highly skilled job fields. From
